

GASRING ON THE STEERING WHEEL «KS»

The Kivi gas-ring on the steering wheel is a new generation hand-control, because it can be simply and completely removed from the steering wheel when required.

This acceleration system can be used in cars with an automatic transmission or automatic clutch. Being very simple it can be removed and it allows more space on the steering wheel when the driver needs it, for example, when handling a folded wheelchair. It also avoids obstructing drivers who will not be using the hand-control.

- The quick release on the steering wheel has been designed to allow the ring to be fitted and taken away without being damaged.
- All the car specifics stay as original and are as safe as the manufacturer requires.

Such as the K5, the KS allows to the driver to reduce the power of the engine without reducing the stroke of the ring making it easier to park or when you are moving very slowly in heavy traffic. This hand-control is CE marked.
